Did you know ... healthcare is too expensive for most people in Nicaragua? CAFOD partner John XXIII Institute helps poor communities access non branded low cost medicines. Health Coordinator, Dr Ediberto Mendoza says, "We sell medicines at approximately 40-50 per cent cheaper than any commercial profit making pharmacy. If this programme ended, over 300,000 people would be unable to afford medicines." For 50 years, CARFOD has worked with partners and communities throughout the world to transform millions of lives. Thank you for your continued support.
