Did you know ... that in Uganda CAFOD supports Conflict Resolution by Youth (CRY) in a peace-building programme? CRY work with former young soldiers, training them to be community peace-builders. They encourage their peers to turn away from violence in youth group sessions and theatre workshops. Real change has been achieved thanks to these former young soldiers who were previously written off as perpetual agents of violence: CAFOD's values of hope and dignity working hand in hand for a better future.
