Did you know ..... almost a third of Cambodia's 14 million people live on less than 50 pence a day? CAFOD is working with Development and Partnership in Action (DPA), to support indigenous and vulnerable communities in the remote provinces in north eastern Cambodia. The project works in 29 villages, improving sustainable livelihoods, and increasing access to and knowledge of how best to manage natural resources. It also works to reduce families' vulnerability to disasters and the impact of climate change. Your support enables this to take place - thank you.
